

California State University, Long Beach

Faculty Development Centers and Online Repositories Collaborating to Share Exemplary Practices

Grant Number: P116B060223

Start Date: 10/01/2006

End Date: 09/30/2010

Funding: $680,184.00

Comprehensive Program

2010 Abstract

Partners: Academy of Art University (California); Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo (California); California State University, Channel Islands (California); College of Mainland (Texas); Higher Education Quality Council of Ontario (Ontario, Canada); New Media Consortium (Texas); Rich Mountain Community College (Arkansas); San Francisco State University (California); Teach the Earth-Science Education Resource Center (SERC) (Minnesota); University of Colorado Denver (Colorado); University of Missouri-St. Louis (Missouri); University of Pennsylvania (Pennsylvania). A complete list of all 30 participating institutions is available at http://elixr.merlot.org/uploads/IS/Vh/ISVhpLi-nQENpic8FkAi9A/elixr_institutionlist.pdf

Gerard Hanley
Project Director
California State University
Office of the Chancellor
401 Golden Shore
Long Beach, CA 90802-4210
Tel: 562-951-4259

E-mail:
ghanley@calstate.edu

The Multimedia Education Resource for Learning and Online Teaching (MERLOT) ELIXR initiative is creating a repository of digital case stories for exemplary teaching innovations, illustrating both the product and the process of the innovations and their impact on student learning. The case stories demonstrate innovations in both disciplinary and institutional contexts and are designed for use in faculty development programs by partner institutions, as well as by individual faculty who access them through repository partners.

Tom Carey
Project Co-Director
California State University
Office of the Chancellor
401 Golden Shore
Long Beach, CA 90802-4210
Tel: 562-951-4023

E-mail:
tcarey@projects.sdsu.edu

ELIXR milestones in fiscal year 2009-10: 1) the completion of all digital case stories (79 total) and the evaluation report; 2) the development of a new MERLOT ELIXR website 3) new partnerships with Professional Organization Development (POD) Network and the New Media Consortium (NMC) which will assist with sustainability; 4) a scholarly article to be published in the Fall 2010 To Improve Academy Journal; 5) a strong dissemination effort which has resulted in a notable increase in web traffic (in August 2010, there was a jump from 1,000 visitors a month to 1,500 visitors).

ONLINE REFERENCES:

ELIXR collaborative webspace <http://elixr.merlot.org>

MERLOT ELIXR Case Stories <http://elixr.merlot.org/case-stories?noCache=764:1290196677>

SUBJECTS:

- o o o Dissemination
- o o o Faculty Development
- o o o Teaching Effectiveness
- o o o Technology/Instructional Technologies
- o o STEM

Subject Key:

- o o o Highly relevant
- o o Relevant
- o Slightly relevant

SPECIAL DESIGNATIONS:

Hispanic Serving Institution

=

=

■

t